

This research survey is part of the Feed the Future Nigeria Agricultural Policy Project to study the institutional architecture and quality of policy processes on agriculture and food security in Nigeria. This project is jointly managed by the International Food Policy Research Institute (IFPRI) and Michigan State University (MSU) with funding from the United States Agency for International Development (USAID)'s Nigeria Mission. Similar research surveys are being conducted by the FSP project in other countries in Africa and Asia to derive "best practice" lessons on strengthening policy processes on agriculture and food security issues. Survey respondents will be contacted again in two years to obtain from them an updated assessment on the topics covered in this survey in order to better understand any changes in the institutional architecture or in the quality of policy processes on agriculture and food security in Nigeria. You are free to voluntarily choose to participate in this research survey, refuse to answer certain questions, or stop participating at any time without any loss or harm to you. If you choose to participate, your help in answering these questions is greatly appreciated. Your responses will be kept completely confidential to the maximum extent allowable by law. Your responses will be summed together with those from other stakeholders in Nigeria and possibly from other countries. Only general averages from the analysis will be reported. For any questions about the study, contact Mr. JM of the Feed the Future Nigeria Agricultural Policy Project; <phone number and email deleted> and Dr. SL, Assistant Professor, Michigan State University <phone number deleted>.

Á your organization is a member of a Technical Working Group (TWG) that deals with agriculture issues, please specify the details of this TWG below. For e.g., indicate the name or type of group and scope of the issues addressed (i.e., national or provincial level):

Á = _____
V

7 0=no influence 1=limited influence 2=moderate influence 3=high influence

State level: 0=no influence 1=limited influence 2=moderate influence 3=high influence

A11. If you rated your influence as 'no influence' or 'limited influence' for either federal or state level, what do you think is the main reason for this limited influence (use space below):

A12. If you rated your influence as 'moderate' or 'high', please provide an example of when your organization had influence on agriculture and food security policy change processes in the past (use space below):

Please rate each of the following statement on a scale of 0 to 3, where:

- 0 = you completely disagree/dissatisfied;
 - 1=somewhat disagree/dissatisfied,
 - 2=somewhat agree/satisfied, and
 - 3=you completely agree/satisfied.
- (If the question is not applicable or you do not know, mark 'NA/DK'.

All the statements refer to the CURRENT policy environment in Nigeria (i.e., as of 2018) for the broad agriculture sector, including issues relating to food security at the federal and state level. You may, if you wish, add a comment in the space provided under each statement to elaborate your response.

The term 'stakeholder' is used here to collectively include representatives from the private sector, CSOs, NGOs, research organizations, the donor community, producer organizations, citizen's groups, etc. that are active in Nigeria on agriculture and food security policy issues.

The term 'policy' as used here includes the content of master development frameworks for Nigeria, sector strategies, sub-sector strategies, public investment plans, proposed legislation and regulations, and the design of public programs.
